Helpful Tips

To reduce & prevent stress

Plan your time to give yourself enough opportunity to complete homework, get ready for school, prepare for your day and have time for yourself. Leaving things to the last minute and rushing can increase or add to stress.

Be mindful of your own needs. Mindfulness is a skill that you can practice and you might find it hard to switch off at first. Take time each day to do something you enjoy and find has a positive impact on you. Mindfulness is shown to have help you feel better long term.

Give time for Hobbies. Spend time on activities you enjoy. This might help you develop additional skills, broaden knowledge or act as another form of mindfulness.

Be kind to yourself and others, focus on positive parts of your day.

Recognise how it feels when you are stressed so you can put things in place to try and minimise any future stress. If you do recognise those signs of stress, practice mindfulness and seek support if needed.

Set yourself goals that you know you can achieve without causing yourself stress. Break tasks down into smaller chunks to make them more manageable.

Sleep Routine. Reduce screen time before bed, set an alert for going to sleep. 12year olds need around 10-11 hours sleep. Practice relaxation techniques before going to bed to help prepare your mind for rest. Avoid snoozing your alarm, it is better to set a later alarm that leaves you enough time to get ready, than to snooze several times. Making your bed can help start your day positively.

Seek Support. If you recognise that you need support, it's ok to ask for help. On the back of this booklet are a few examples of who you could contact for support if you need it.
